

Nixon Withheld Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Facing a new firestorm in Congress, President Nixon summoned his Cabinet for an urgent session today following his admission he tried two years ago to thwart a crucial phase of the FBI's Watergate investigation.

RICHARD NIXON

A White House spokesman, in announcing the late morning session, said "all items" would be discussed. This presumably would include growing demands that Nixon resign from the nation's highest office.

Coupled with his admission that he withheld information from Congress, the public and his own lawyer, Nixon's disclosure Monday about his role in trying to sidetrack the FBI probe dealt a devastating blow to his already dimmed hopes of avoiding impeachment.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford canceled a scheduled speech to an agricultural group so he could attend the White House meeting. Some of Nixon's staunchest defenders in Congress called for his resignation or impeachment. Vice President Gerald R. Ford said he was suspending his public defense of Nixon. Fresh rumors of an imminent presidential resignation swept a capital already awash in such unconfirmed reports, but aides said Nixon planned "to fight on."

A tidal wave of reaction followed Nixon's release on Monday of a statement and new tape transcripts disclosing that:

—Gave orders within a week after the Watergate break-in that the Central Intelligence Agency be used to blunt an FBI investigation that threatened to expose the fact his campaign aides channeled money to the burglars.

—Was told six days after the break-in that his campaign director and former attorney general, John N. Mitchell, may have had some prior knowledge of the wiretapping plans.

—Withheld evidence from his closest advisers and lawyers as well as the House Judiciary Committee, and made erroneous statements to the American public.

"This was a serious act of omission for which I take full responsibility and which I deeply regret," Nixon said in the written statement.

Acknowledging that his impeachment by the House is "virtually a foregone conclusion," Nixon said he would give the Senate for a trial the transcripts of 64 White House tape recordings he is turning over to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica under a Supreme Court order.

The harsh reaction of even of some of his closest allies eclipsed the furor that followed his firing last October of special prosecutor Archibald Cox — an incident that triggered what aides later called a firestorm of protest.

But his promise to yield more tapes did little to soften the harsh reaction of some of his closest allies.

Visibly shaken and fighting to keep his composure, Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., the silver-haired lawyer who carried the burden of Nixon's defense in the Judiciary Committee, told newsmen:

"After considerable reflection, I have reached the painful conclusion that the President of the United States should resign."

Wiggins said he would vote for impeachment if Nixon didn't quit. Three of his GOP colleagues on the committee also abandoned their support of the President. Five others said they were reassessing their positions.

Other leading Republicans joined in the chorus of resignation or impeachment demands.

"This is the end," said Rep. Harold V. Froehlich, R-Wis.

"He's gone," said Rep. Joel T. Broyhill, R-N.Y.

Some Southern Democrats who had been solidly in Nixon's anti-impeachment camp were wavering toward undecided. But one, Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., said he still backed the President because "to err is human, to forgive divine."

House Democratic Leader Thomas

P. "Tip" O'Neill of Massachusetts said, "A tidal wave is about to strike the House as far as impeachment goes.... You wonder if he'll have a handful to support him."

But Nixon said in his two-page statement that "I am firmly convinced that the record, in its entirety, does not justify the extreme step of impeachment and removal of a President."

Aides said the President and his closest advisers discussed his possible resignation during a Camp David conference Sunday.

But they said that Nixon rejected the option and decided instead to follow "the constitutional process" because he didn't want to set "a precedent ... of a President allowing himself to be driven from office."

The debate was certain to be spurred, however, by the revelations in the three partial transcripts released by the White House an hour after the Nixon statement.

All three conversations were between Nixon and H. R. Haldeman, then his White House chief of staff, June 23, 1972, six days after the Republican operatives were arrested inside Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate complex.

The 46 pages of transcripts disclose Nixon's approval of a plan to cut off the FBI's probe, which was then threatening to expose involvement of his top campaign officials.

Haldeman said Mitchell, then campaign director, had recommended "that the only way to solve this, and we're set up beautifully to do it ... is for us to have (Deputy CIA director Vernon A.) Walters call (acting FBI Director) Pat Gray and just say, 'Stay the hell out of this ...'"

'Don't Go Any Further Into This Case'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Don't go any further into this case, period!"

That was President Nixon's indirect order to the FBI after he learned federal agents were on the verge of discovering what he already had been told: The Watergate break-in six days earlier had been committed by the President's men.

Tape transcripts made public on Monday also show Nixon was told his campaign director, John N. Mitchell, apparently knew about the intelligence gathering scheme in advance and pressured subordinates "to get more information."

Nixon repeatedly had denied knowledge of any high-level involvement in Watergate or any participation in a cover-up of the scandal.

The 46 pages of newly released transcript include portions of three meetings between Nixon and presidential Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman on June 23, 1972 — six days after the break-in at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate Office Building.

At the outset of a wide-ranging political strategy discussion regarding the ongoing presidential campaign, Haldeman told the President:

"Now, on the investigation, you know the Democratic break-in thing, we're back in the problem area because the FBI is not under control, because (acting FBI Director L. Patrick) Gray doesn't exactly know how to control it, and they have — their investigation is now leading into some productive areas — because they've been able to trace the money — not through the money itself — but through the bank sources — the banker.

"And, it goes in some directions we don't want it to go."

Haldeman said Mitchell had come up with a recommendation, analyzed and agreed to by White House counsel John W. Dean III, "that the only way to solve this, and we're set up beautifully to do it ... is for us to have (Deputy CIA Director Vernon A.) Walters call Pat Gray and just say, 'Stay the hell out of this ...'"

Nixon's top aide advised the plan would work because it wasn't unusual for the spy agency to "put the hold on" FBI investigations that threatened to expose covert CIA operations and "the FBI agents who are working the case ... feel that's what it is."

Under questioning from Nixon, Haldeman said the money used for the break-in was "directly traceable" from Nixon campaign contributors through campaign finance chief Maurice H. Stans and his Finance Committee to Re-elect the President.

Nixon suggested the contributors could tell the agents a false story about the money, but Haldeman cautioned, "Then we're relying on more and more people all the time. That's the problem, and they'll stop if we could take this other route."

"All right," the President said.

Haldeman: "And you seem to think the thing to do is to get them to stop?"

Nixon: "Right. Fine."

They discussed how to get CIA Director Richard Helms to go along with the plan, and Nixon suggested, "We protected Helms from one hell of a lot of things."

He added that exposing E. Howard Hunt Jr., a retired clandestine officer of the CIA, as a Watergate conspirator would uncover "a lot of hanky-panky that we have nothing to do with ourselves."

Nixon apparently was referring to Hunt's role in the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba and perhaps other, still-classified exploits of the romantically inclined American spy.

"Well, what the hell, did Mitchell know about this (break-in conspiracy)?" Nixon said.

Haldeman: "I think so. I don't think he knew the details, but I think he knew."

Nixon: "He didn't know how it was going to be handled though — with (campaign contributor Kenneth) Dahlberg and the Texans and so forth? Well, who was the asshole that did? Is it (G. Gordon) Liddy? Is that the fellow? He must be a little nuts!"

Haldeman: "He is."

Nixon: "I mean he just isn't well screwed on is he? Is that the problem?"

Haldeman: "No, but he was under pressure, apparently to get more information, and as he got more pressure, he pushed the people harder to move harder —"

Nixon: "Pressure from Mitchell?"

Haldeman: "Apparently."

Nixon: "Oh, Mitchell. Mitchell was at the point unintelligible."

Haldeman: "Yeah."

Nixon: "All right, fine. I understand it all. We won't second-guess Mitchell and the rest. Thank God it wasn't (special presidential counsel Charles W.) Colson."

The President then ordered Haldeman to call in Helms and Walters of the CIA and "play it tough. That's the way they play it, and that's the way we are going to play it."

Later in the conversation, when telling Haldeman what to tell the CIA officials, Nixon advised, "Don't lie to them to the extent to say there is no involvement, but just say this is a comedy of errors, without getting into it. The President believes that it is going to open the whole Bay of Pigs thing up again."

Commander Named For Local OSP Post

LT. D. S. KOHN

Lt. D. S. Kohn, formerly of the Ashland State Highway Patrol Post, has been transferred to the Circleville post where he will assume command. Lt. Wayne Henry, who has been commander of the local post for the two and a half years, had requested and was granted a transfer to the London Post which is near his home.

The new post commander started with the Highway Patrol as a dispatcher in his home town of Canfield and after three years in that position he was accepted as a student at the Patrol Academy. A graduate of the academy in 1960, Kohn was then reassigned to the Canfield Post where he served as a patrolman and was later promoted to the rank of sergeant.

Kohn was officially assigned as commander of the Circleville post when he received his promotion to the rank of lieutenant on Aug. 2. He is a graduate of Canfield High School and attended Kent State University.

He and his wife Janet are the parents of one daughter, Robin, 10. Lt. Kohn said presently he was commuting on his days off back to Canfield where the family is remaining until they can secure residence in the Circleville area.

Scrap Bombs, Warns Mayor Of Hiroshima

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP) — The mayor of Hiroshima, the Japanese city whose name became a synonym for nuclear devastation 29 years ago, demanded today that the world scrap its nuclear arsenals and free mankind of "the awesome threat of suicidal ruin."

Mayor Setsuo Yamada called on the nuclear powers by name, listing India along with the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, China and France.

Yamada also demanded that Japan sign the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which binds nations without nuclear weapons not to develop them. India, which set off a nuclear device in May, is not a signatory.

The mayor spoke at ceremonies in memory of the approximately 85,000 victims of the world's first atomic attack, in the waning days of World War II.

The toll of the attack has continued to mount in the three decades since. The Atomic Bomb Hospital in Hiroshima reported that another 36 bomb victims died last year after long treatment.

At today's ceremonies, 1,632 names were added to the list of persons whose deaths have been traced directly to the blast or to subsequent radiation poisoning.

Resignation Rumors Sweep Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a few hours Monday, the capital was swamped with rumors that President Nixon would resign. That announcement didn't materialize.

There has been speculation about a possible presidential resignation for more than a year, since the Watergate scandal chased some of Nixon's closest aides from the White House.

The speculation picked up again Sunday when the President summoned speech writers to his secluded, mountaintop retreat at Camp David, Md. In that wooded setting Nixon has pondered some of his most startling presidential decisions, including his 1971 order to impose wage and price controls after a career of opposition to such measures.

Monday morning, the Washington Post was on capital doorsteps with frontpage reports, from unnamed White House aides, that material in soon-to-be-released tape recordings would further damage the President's chance to survive impeachment. One such aide was quoted as saying "All hell will break loose" when the material is made public.

During the morning, Senate Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin of Michigan called for Nixon to resign. He said it would be in the best interests of the President and the nation.

By afternoon the speculation hardened into rumor. The White House postponed its usual daily briefing, and Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren told newsmen there would be an announcement after 3:30.

The time is important. The New York Stock exchange closes at 3:30 p.m. each trading day, and important government announcements that might affect stock prices are routinely held up until after that time. For weeks, economic analysts have predicted that stock prices would soar if a new President took office.

Warren insisted that the announcement would not be a resignation. Nevertheless, the Dow Jones industrial average jumped up 13 points during the afternoon, before settling to a close with an increase of almost 8 points.

Nixon-Congress Rift Widens

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the dust settled after another day of damaging disclosures, Richard M. Nixon stood more isolated than ever from the men who must decide whether he can finish his second term as President.

Monday, the beleaguered President chose once again to gamble in an attempt to cut his losses with a dramatic move. And, once again, the result was an immediate weakening of his position.

A White House official, who refused to permit use of his name, said Monday that resignation was discussed and rejected during an impeachment strategy conference Sunday at Camp David, Md.

The official said the President rejected the option because he did not want to set "a precedent for a President being driven from office." His decision was "to fight on."

But he chose to fight with a disclosure that served to drive some of his firmest supporters among congressmen to say they would have to vote to impeach Nixon if he refused to resign.

If it was a miscalculation, it was only the latest in a long series that have plagued Nixon's efforts to extricate himself from the Watergate scandal.

There was the original fight to withhold the tapes that climaxed with the firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox. It was the firing of Cox that set the impeachment process in motion.

There was the decision to release the edited White House transcripts and portray them as the full story of the President's knowledge of and involvement in Watergate. But the reaction to these intimate glimpses into private presidential conversations hurt Nixon's case in Congress and with the American public.

There were the attempts by White House spokesmen to describe the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry as a partisan witchhunt, an effort by the Democrats to negate the President's landslide reelection. That backfired among moderate House Republicans who believed committee chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., had gone out of his way to maintain fairness.

In each case, Nixon appeared totally unaware of the mood of a Congress that desperately wanted the President to demonstrate his innocence but that demanded he do it with hard evidence.

The latest disclosures prompted defections from some of the most hard-line of Nixon supporters, like Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., who had argued the anti-impeachment case during the nationally broadcast House Judiciary Committee hearings.

"With great reluctance and deep personal regret," Wiggins said he

Hays Will Vote For Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, said today he has "no alternative but to vote for impeachment" following Monday's release of additional Watergate tapes.

"I think these recent disclosures made it positive beyond a doubt that he (President Nixon) was on the cover from the beginning," Hays said. "I hope he would resign."

Hays is chairman of the House Administration Committee and represents Ohio's 18th district.

would support impeachment for obstruction of justice if Nixon did not resign first.

The President made it clear in his statement Monday that he had written off the House.

But he concluded by saying, "I am firmly convinced that the record, in its entirety, does not justify the extreme step of impeachment and removal of a president. I trust that as the constitutional process goes forward this perspective will prevail."

If he has now lost Wiggins, that final hope for vindication may also prove a miscalculation.

Cincinnati Teamsters Holding Out

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The two-month-old building trades strike that has plagued area construction for two months was down to one holdout union today — but Mayor Theodore Berry sees little cause for optimism.

A meeting called by the mayor Monday between negotiators for striking Teamsters Local 100 and six ready-mix concrete companies apparently produced few results.

Berry later reminded the parties of the disruption caused by the strike.

"We have $67 million worth of public works which either are stopped or cannot be contracted until the strike ends," said Berry.

Monday's bright spot came with the announcement that the 800-member Sheet Metal Workers had accepted a two-year contract which calls for a 36-cent hourly wage hike the first year "and more the second," according to a spokesman.

The Teamsters are seeking 75-cent hourly raises each year of a three-year contract.

The strike has stalled construction at four Cincinnati hospitals, a new 18,000-seat sports arena and a major water control project on Mill Creek.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market raced ahead early today, then paused for breath while awaiting the outcome of a meeting of President Nixon and his Cabinet.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 16.51 at 776.91, and gainers maintained a 9-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers traced the early surge of buying to hopes for early resolution of the impeachment question following President Nixon's disclosure Monday that he ordered a halt to a key part of the FBI's investigation into the Watergate burglary.

Brokers said profit-taking set in after the Dow surged more than 25 points in the first half hour.

Detroit Edison was the most active NYSE issue, up 1/4 at 10 1/4. A 100,000-share block traded at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 1.19 at 78.13.

Analysts said the key issue regarding impeachment from many investors' point of view was how quickly the question of President Nixon's future in office could be settled.

The NYSE's noon composite index of all its listed common stocks showed a .90 gain at 42.43.

Syntax was the Amex volume leader, up 1 1/2 at 39 1/2.

7 Deaths Counted After Collapse Of Miami Building

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "It was like we were sliding into an abyss. One girl above me was hanging onto a chair. The rest of her was just kicking in mid-air."

Olivia Harris was describing the collapse of an office building roof which sent tons of concrete, steel beams and cars crashing in a tangled heap of debris Monday, killing seven persons.

Authorities began digging Monday and by late this morning had recovered the last of the victims known to be buried in the rubble.

Mrs. Harris, 45, was among the 16 persons injured in the collapse at the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration building in downtown Miami near busy Biscayne Boulevard.

By late morning, the bodies of five women and two men had been recovered from the tons of concrete.

The women were identified as Anna Pope, 55, a cashier from Fort Lauderdale; Anna Y. Mounger, 24, a clerk-typist from Miami; Martha Skeels, 50, a clerical supervisor from Miami; Mary Keehan, 27, a secretary from North Miami; and Mary P. Sullivan, 57, a clerk from North Miami.

Authorities identified the three people who were not yet accounted for as Nicholas Fragos, 29, who recently transferred to Miami from Detroit; Mary P. Sullivan, 57, a clerk from North Miami; and special agent Charles H. Mann, 31, who was on his first day in the Miami office after a tour of duty in New Delhi, India. More than 80 firemen worked through the day and into the night in the 49-year-old building.

"If we make a mistake now it would kill several firemen," Fire Chief Don Hickman said. "There's a big high beam. If it collapsed, I'd lose six or eight. Any sudden movement and the whole building could collapse."

Officials said the weight of 80 cars which were parked on the roof of the building were probably too heavy for it and caused the roof to crash down through two floors of office space.

Primary Elections Held In 4 States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Few surprises were expected as voters in Missouri, Michigan, Kansas and Idaho choose candidates for state and national office in primary elections today.

A low voter turnout was predicted in Missouri, where the Democratic nomination for auditor was the only strongly contested statewide race.

Only token opposition threatened the renomination bid of U.S. Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., who was dropped as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee in 1972 after he disclosed he had been treated for mental depression.

His Republican counterpart, former U.S. Rep. Thomas Curtis, also was expected to win handily. Curtis, a nine-term congressman, almost beat Eagleton in 1968 and was seeking the GOP nod to try for Eagleton's seat again.

In Michigan, interest was focused on the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Front-running former state Sen. Sander Levin was opposed by former Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh and attorney James Wells. Cavanaugh and Levin vowed to support the eventual winner against William G. Milliken, a Republican running unopposed for renomination who narrowly beat out Levin in 1970.

Over half of the registered voters in Kansas were expected to participate in a primary including a four-man campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and a two-man race among Democrats seeking to oppose Sen. Robert Dole, former Republican national chairman.

Running for the GOP gubernatorial nomination were Robert Bennet, president of the state Senate; ex-GOP state chairman Don Concannon; Methodist minister Forrest Robinson and Robert Clack, an assistant professor at Kansas State University.

State Atty. Gen. Vern Miller ran unopposed for the Democratic nomination to succeed retiring four-term Gov. Robert Docking, also a Democrat.

Dole is unopposed in his renomination bid. Seeking the Democratic nomination to run against him were U.S. Rep. Bill Roy — the party's only congressman from Kansas — and George Hart, a former state treasurer.

There was no suspense about the Idaho gubernatorial primaries. Running unchallenged for their respective party nominations were incumbent Democratic Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Republican Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy.

Sen. Frank Church was expected to brush aside token opposition from other Democrats and win renomination for his fourth term in the Senate.

Inspectors Face Charges From Miners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State mining safety inspectors will be hauled on the carpet next week to answer accusations of incompetency and corruption leveled by coal miners, state Industrial Relations Director Joe Shump said Monday.

Shump met for nearly three hours with about 20 representatives of United Mine Workers Dist. 6 in southeastern Ohio.

In an often heated exchange, miners demanded that a North American Coal Co. foreman be prohibited from supervising workers, and that the state update its mine safety laws.

Shump answered that he would try to reach a compromise with North American Coal in the first case, and that legislation was in the works to solve the second problem.

But most of the miners, as they left the meeting, indicated it was not enough, and that they would continue a strike that has idled about 2,200 workers at seven mines in Belmont, Jefferson and Monroe counties.

"We came here for action and we're getting the run around," said John Guzek, Dist. 6 president. "We'll have to wait and see whether we'll go back to work."

The miners complained about state mine safety inspectors, calling them inexperienced, incompetent, often lazy and sometimes corrupt.

Several said they'd seen state examiners certify as safe the same mine federal inspectors said was riddled with violations.

"If we've got examiners not enforcing the law, we'll change that," Shump said. "Let me assure you, we're going to call all the inspectors into my office and let them hear some of the things you've been telling me."

Man Pulls Into Path Of Cyclist

Tim Brown, 18, 523 S. Court St., told Circleville Police that he pulled his car from Nicholas Dr. into the traffic lane of Lancaster Pike in an accident that injured 11-year-old Ann Spires, 402 E. Main St., Thursday.

At the time of the accident, Brown told police that he was stopped at the intersection when the Spires girl turned her bike onto Nicholas Dr. and hit his car.

However, on Friday he admitted Miss Spires was riding straight on Lancaster Pike and his car was pulled into the traffic lane, causing her to strike the vehicle.

Westfall District Loses Teacher And Principal

Resignations of one teacher and one principal in the Westfall School District were accepted by the board Monday night in a continuation meeting of the regular session.

Resigning from his position as principal of Jackson School was David Quince and leaving the position as fourth grade teacher at Darby School was Kathleen Zimmerman. Austin Bogart's resignation as bus driver in the district was also accepted.

The board employed Mrs. Joan McKay as a fourth grade teacher at Darby Elementary; Mrs. JoAnn Reisinger as first grade teacher at Monroe Elementary; Ms. Pat Revell as fourth grade teacher at Monroe and Ms. Kathleen Bowers as kindergarten teacher at Darby.

A supplemental contract was given to Mrs. Mildred Davis as acting principal at Monroe Elementary.

Mrs. Faye Mullet and Mrs. Teresa Schultz were re-employed by the board at Monday's meeting as first grade teacher at Jackson and junior high EMR teacher, respectively. The two are on temporary certificate and cannot by state law be re-employed until after Aug. 1 of each year.

The board accepted the schematic drawings as submitted by the architect for the new middle school.

Employment was confirmed by the board for Mrs. Shirley Dean as full-time cook at Jackson.

Bids were awarded to the Blue Ribbon Dairy, Pennington Brothers Bakery and the Ashville Cardinal Food Market for cafeteria supplies for the 1974-75 school year. Bids were also awarded to Scioto Haulers for trash removal at Jackson, Westfall, and Monroe School buildings and to Pearl Chamberlain for trash removal at Darby School.

Circleville Oil was awarded the bid for the district to supply bus tires and service and motor oil.

The reimbursement rate for travel was increased by the board from the former rate of ten cents per mile to 12 cents per mile for board authorized trips. The new rate increase was effective Aug. 1.

Local Superintendent Gordon Massie reported to the board on the replacement of the windows in the three elementary buildings. He said the project was nearing completion and several of the old windows are still in fair condition. These windows will be disposed of by bids from interested parties. The parties interested in the old windows must submit a bid to the board by Aug. 31. The highest bidder may take any or all of the windows available.

The board adjourned the meeting but will meet again in regular session on Aug. 19.

Balloonist Dies After Bay Crash

LAKEHURST, N.J. (AP) — A Philadelphia man hoping to make the first successful transatlantic balloon crossing crashed into Barnegat Bay near here shortly after launch this morning and was killed, police said.

Robert C. Berger, who had never before been up in a balloon, lifted off today before a cheering crowd of 100 persons.

Berger, 46, and a 10-man crew worked on his 12-story balloon Monday night and early this morning inside a huge hangar at the Lakehurst Naval Air Station, once a large Navy facility for lighter-than-air ships.

Berger said he plans to ride jet stream air currents across the Atlantic Ocean at an altitude of 36,000 feet, landing in Paris in 36 to 48 hours.

Two previous transatlantic balloon attempts in the past year failed, with one ending in tragedy. Thomas Gatch, 48, an Army reserve colonel, disappeared over the Atlantic last February after taking off from Harrisburg, Pa. He has not yet been found.

In July 1973, Bob Sparks tried to cross the Atlantic from Bar Harbor, Maine, only to wind up having to be fished from the ocean.

An electrician with a degree in business administration, Berger is married and the father of four children. He says he has spent $25,000 and two years planning his flight.

The balloon, "The Spirit of Man," consists of a tough synthetic bag made of a substance known as Mylar. The bag holds 320,000 cubic feet of helium and supports a four-foot-wide fiberglass gondola topped by a plexiglass bubble canopy.

Plain Dealer Asks Nixon's Resignation

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Plain Dealer said in an editorial today that President Nixon should resign from office now.

It said the President's "shocking admission yesterday that he deliberately withheld information and misled Congress and the nation about the Watergate coverup now makes his removal from office a certainty."

"To spare the nation the agony of the impeachment process and himself the humiliation of conviction, President Nixon should begin discussions for the orderly transition of power to Vice President Gerald R. Ford," the newspaper continued.

Highway Herbicide Under Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite some scattered criticism, the Ohio Division of Highways continues to control weeds by the use of a herbicide known as 2-4-D.

State Rep. George Mastics, R-3

Profitless Deal Claimed In Malabar Expansion Sale

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board was told Monday by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources that an employee who sold it land would not make a profit off the transaction.

David DeVries, a deputy to the director, told the board the fact it wasn't informed earlier this month that the person it was buying the land from was a state employee was his mistake.

"It was an omission on my part," DeVries said of the transaction where the board released $27,678 to the department to buy two-thirds of an acre of land in Richland County from Carroll Mercury Sales Inc.

The land was to be used for expansion of Malabar Farm, home of the late author Louis Bromfield, which the

Pesticide Use Climbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm use of chemical pesticides climbed 40 per cent from 1966 through 1971, with those used to control weeds gaining most, says the Agriculture Department.

In all, the department's Economic Research Service said Monday in a report, farmers used about 494 million pounds of chemical compounds in 1971. Those included DDT and some others such as aldrin which more recently has been banned or curbed by federal orders.

"Pesticide use has led to more economic and efficient agricultural production," the report said. "However, questions still arise on the productivity of pesticides, the effects of substituting pesticides for other resources and the possibility of environmental contamination."

Although the latest figures in the report are based on use four years ago, the study does show clearly how farmers have been able to substitute chemicals for mechanical field work and, in some cases, hand labor.

The use of herbicides to kill weeds, for example, totaled 228 million pounds in 1971, double the 1966 use.

"Herbicides have replaced, to a large extent, more expensive mechanical means for controlling weeds and are now used in the production of almost every major crop," the report said.

Chemical weedkillers are used primarily on corn, the report said. In 1971 about 80 per cent of the crop nationally was treated with herbicides totaling 101 million pounds. In 1966 only 46 million pounds were used on corn.

Rice Crop Supports Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government price support loan rates for 1974-crop rice will average $7.54 per hundredweight of grain, up sharply from last year and from a preliminary level set last fall, says the Agriculture Department.

The new support, announced Monday, compares with the 1973 rice loan of $6.07 per hundredweight. It also is $1.31 above the level of $6.23 tentatively set by the USDA last October for the 1974 crop.

Officials said the boost was required under federal law which calls for rice to be supported at a minimum of 65 per cent of the August 1 parity price. That price, which is related to farm production costs, rose sharply from last fall and meant the support had to be increased.

Carroll Mercury Sales of Mount Vernon, DeVries confirmed, is primarily owned by Carroll J. "Bill" Solomon, curator of the farm and a Department of Natural Resources employee.

Solomon paid $22,500 for the portion of the corner lot but had some closing expenses in the transaction. He also rented it for eight months at $1,000.

Resources Director William Nye said Solomon did the state a favor, buying the property when the department budget would allow it a year ago and holding it for the state.

The rental money, he said, will be deducted from the purchase price. DeVries promised a complete breakdown of the transaction for the legislators on the control board.

"It's a matter of my omission," he told the board. "He will not be paid more than his actual costs." He said the deal had not been finalized but that Solomon has an option.

Ashville Mayor Resigns

The Ashville Village Council accepted with regret at Monday night's meeting the resignation of Mayor Harold Hartley. The council wished the resigning mayor well in his future endeavors and thanked him for his years of service to the community. He resigned his post because he has moved from the Ashville village.

Following the resignation, city solicitor Leo Hall swore in former council president James Hopper as mayor. The council then elected Max Cormany as council president.

Another council member will need to be appointed in the near future to fill the vacancy which now exists on the council.

Cedar Point Merges With Marriott Corp.

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—An agreement in principle has been reached by Cedar Point, Inc., of Sandusky and Marriott Corp. for the merger of Cedar Point into Marriott.

Officials of the two firms announced the agreement Monday and said it calls for the exchange of 1.25 Marriott common shares for each of the approximately 2,982,000 outstanding common shares of Cedar Point.

Guidance Board Post Is Filled

Donald W. Greenlee, 424 Glenmont Court, was recently appointed to the Scioto-Paint Valley Guidance Center Board of Trustees.

DONALD W. GREENLEE

He joins Wayne Hines and Richard Fisher representing Pickaway County on the 5-county board which includes Ross, Pike, Highland, Fayette and Pickaway. Greenlee replaced Dr. William Myers in this position.

The guidance center, located at 50 Pohlman Road, Chillicothe, provides diagnosis, consultation and treatment to persons who experience emotional, behavioral or other mental health problems. Since its first year of operation in 1966 over 500 new and readmitted clients have been Pickaway County residents. This includes 122 in 1973.

Many guidance center clients make their own arrangements to obtain services while others are referred by physicians, courts, schools, and public service agencies. An increasing number are former state hospital patients who have been discharged due to efforts to return these persons to their home communities for treatment.

Citizens of Pickaway County may obtain further information about guidance center services or secure appointments by contacting Chillicothe, 775-1260.

Nationwide Earnings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Nationwide Corp. reported a $905,000 increase in net income for the first half of this year compared to a similar period in 1973.

Dean W. Jeffers, company chairman, said net income for six months ending June 30 was $9,649,000. He said net income per share was 93 cents in 1974 compared to 86 cents per share in 1973.

Bargaining For Justice

Plea bargaining as a means to a quick end to a criminal prosecution is both condemned and applauded, especially as it has been used in the trials of several former aides of the President.

But plea bargaining has become a common practice throughout the judicial system, a circumstance which has caused Attorney General Saxbe to order a study of the procedure.

Basically, many prosecutors contend plea bargaining serves justice by saving the time and cost of a trial and still punishes the defendant for one or more of the charges brought against him. To the defense, bargaining with the prosecutor almost always results in a lessening of the charges and a lighter sentence than might be expected had the case gone to trial under the full indictment.

Aside from the various arguments on both sides, one of the strong motivations behind plea bargaining is the freeing of court dockets. Crimes and prosecutions have reached such a plateau in the United States that the courts cannot handle the workload, if each case is given the maximum amount of the court's time it might ordinarily require.

Short-cuts in the judicial process sometimes result in justice poorly administered. This is what Saxbe had in mind when he said: "It is hardly reassuring when one man goes to prison for years for theft while another man involved in a conspiracy to steal our freedoms is in and out of jail in the wink of an eye."

Connally's Rise Levels Off

ON THE LINE
By BOB COSDINE

NEW YORK—People . . . Places . . . At a posh party in Dallas two years ago, the guests of honor were handsome John Connally and his beautiful wife. There was no question among the other guests about where Big John was heading. Up.

"But he doesn't really want the Presidency," a close friend and admirer told me. "Neither he nor she wants to spend eight long years in Washington."

Recent events indicate that he may be spared that ordeal.

The fatality rate among television entertainment stars challenges that of Iwo Jima, or Waterloo.

I miss Jackie Gleason and Audrey Meadows in the original "Honeymooners." What happened to Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca at the crest of their waves? Who bumped "Laugh-In," "Mr. Peepers," and Phil Silvers? What was wrong with Ed Sullivan? I'd even like to see Milton Berle again, as well as his arch-competitor Fulton Sheen.

They've all gone with the wind of change, which stresses gun play, crime, sex, narcotics, rape and other hardy-hardy-hars.

Why doesn't some network reissue the classics of old, from time to time. I'd like my grandchildren to see what it was like, in the long, long ago.

Some weeks back, President Richard Nixon called in Vice President Gerald Ford — who was getting alarmingly close to telling the President what he was doing wrong — and said, in effect, "Jerry, baby, you've been working too hard at your job. You're wearing yourself out. Take a breather. Cut down on your speaking schedule. Get some rest."

Never has advice been so assiduously followed. Ford seems to have gone immediately to the nearest golf course and hasn't been heard from since. While his leader was going through the meat grinder of the House Judiciary Committee, and agonizing over whether to ask that his case be allowed to leap-frog the full House and go directly to the Senate, good old Jerry, obedient to the end, was playing with one of Nixon's most articulate opponents, House Majority Leader Tip O'Neill in the pro-am tournaments that preceded the opening of the Pleasant Valley Classic, Sutton, Mass.

Must be a great comfort to the President that at least one member of his official family does what he's told to do.

Electricity has become quite complicated since Benj. Franklin first messed around with it.

There was a nice little welcome home note from Con Edison the day my wife and I returned from a recent trip. It read, "Turn-off notice. We are sorry, but your service will be discontinued unless the total amount of this bill is received by Aug. 2, 1974. See insert for your rights."

The Secretary of Our Sub-Treasury, my wife, took a short cut. She called old Con on the phone. She also called him some other things after a canned voice informed her that all his representatives were busy, but to hang in there on the priority list and eventually something human would answer.

The bill was postmarked July 23 and arrived July 29. (After all, Con's office and our apartment are nearly four blocks separated.) We had been charged $192.60, apparently for not using the service.

A human voice on the other end of the line suddenly startled my wife — after a ten-minute wait on the priority list. My wife started her spiel, but the young woman on the phone quickly cut in with, "I'm only a trainee . . . just give me the facts and I'll have a representative call you back in a few days."

I don't know what my wife said to that, but her persuasion must have been salty. One of old Con's male reps called back within an hour. My wife said she'd like to know why the bill was nearly two and a half times the normal bill. When we actually were living in the apartment it was $79.53, when we closed it up it jumped to $192.60.

The man had a perfectly clear answer. He said, "Our man couldn't gain admittance to your apartment to read the meter. So the $192.60 is just an estimate." My wife, who doesn't seem to have the proper respect for such humanitarian institutions as old Con's, asked, "Tell me how in hell you came up with that particular estimate?"

"Well," the man yelled, "we were assuming extra air conditioners, TVs, and fans would be going."

"While we were away?" He suggested that she not change the subject.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

The emergency room at Berger Hospital is available for the use of all people. No one will be denied care for any urgent illness or injury. As in most emergency rooms across the nation, more than half of the patients do not have true emergency problems and so they would be better and less expensively cared for in a private physician's office or other out-patient facility.

But many people rely on insurance coverage, which will pay for care in the emergency room but not the physician's office; many people, when upset, develop feelings of extreme urgency about their problems and so want immediate attention which they think will be available in the emergency room; and many people have never made any arrangements for a personal physician and so when they become even slightly ill, must use the community's emergency room for access into the medical care system.

At Berger Hospital a nurse is on duty in the Emergency Room at all times. During the day and early evening there are two nurses on duty. Twelve physicians rotate being "on call" in our emergency room. These are the active medical staff members of Berger Hospital.

"On call" does not mean being in the emergency room, but it means being readily available at their office, home, or other place nearby where they can be contacted quickly by telephone. Their normal work is being a physician in our community; whether a general practitioner or surgeon or obstetrician-gynecologist, they donate 24 hours of coverage to our emergency room every twelfth day.

The reward for this coverage is the part of their fees that they can collect (Emergency room collections are rarely over 50 per cent plus the knowledge that they are serving the community in an important way.) Being "On Call" on a day when you are trying to care for your own patients in your office makes for hectic times, not to mention the long nights when you'd rather be in bed.

Berger Hospital pays for resident physicians (Physicians who have not completed their formal training but who are licensed to practice) from certain Columbus hospitals, to work in our emergency room from 6 p.m. until midnight on weekdays and from Friday evening until Monday at 6 a.m. as weekend coverage. These resident physicians supplement our "On Call" doctors, but do not relieve them of their responsibility. The resident physicians stay at the hospital during their time on duty.

The emergency room cannot practice medicine. Only a licensed physician may diagnose and treat. Therefore, other than acute, life saving procedures, all treatment of patients, even in the emergency room, must be at the order and as directed by a physician.

In the case of employment related illness or injury, most of the large industries in our community have some continuing relationship with one physician. That physician is responsible to the employees of the plant with which he is related just as he would be to his own private patients.

Our Emergency Room Staff is well trained and capable. They can make mistakes, however, so we solicit your help in improving our services. We request that you report at once any emergency room problems to the hospital administrator, phone 474-2126. Our goal is to have the best possible emergency room and we welcome your suggestions.

Griffin Calls For Nixon's Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, the assistant Senate Republican leader, today called on President Nixon to resign.

"We've arrived at a point where both the nation and his own interests will best be served by resignation," Griffin said.

Griffin became the first member of the Senate's Republican leadership to urge Nixon publicly to resign, although other Republican officials have done so previously.

He said he believes the President will follow the course he suggests and offer his resignation.

Before entering a committee meeting in the Capitol, Griffin read from a hand-written statement and declined to answer all questions.

Berlin Tieups Protested

MOSCOW (AP) — American and British ambassadors delivered a formal note to the Soviet Foreign Embassy today protesting interference with access to Berlin.

Spokesmen for the embassies refused to elaborate, but according to U.S. officials in Washington the note said the interference with travel is in direct violation of the 1971 FourPower Agreement on Berlin.

France, the third Western ally, was expected to join the protest.

Washington officials said there were reports this morning that one or two buses bound for the city had been impeded. Earlier, traffic appeared to be moving slowly.

Talks between the United States and East Germany on establishing ties broke off last week on the Berlin issue. The East Germans, supported by the Soviets, had been stopping traffic to an environmental agency opened by West Germany in the divided city.

The East Germans claimed the opening violated the 1971 agreement. The State Department countered that the Western powers "will be looking to the Soviet Union to live up to its responsibilities" of permitting free traffic.

"Who's nervous?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

We are expecting our first child in three months. I know we will be visited by our families, since this will be the first grandchild.

How soon after a newborn child is brought home from the hospital is it safe to have visitors?

Mrs. H. J. O., Ga.

Dear Mrs. O.:

The love of grandparents is completely understandable. There is a great temptation to coo at and hold the baby.

Newborn infants must be protected from infections that are spread so easily by adults. It is almost impossible to talk to the child without sending some fine droplets of saliva in its direction.

In the hospital, the baby has been protected with every kind of sterile precaution. The sudden transition to a world of people carrying strange germs may be too rapid. Children actually adjust themselves quickly to the new germs at home and build up an immunity to infections carried by their parents and other children.

Visitors should not be upset if they are permitted only a short visit with a newborn child during these early days, grandparents and family should be satisfied with a moment or two with the baby. They should be instructed not to talk directly at the baby. Their nonverbal love will be appreciated by the infant.

Have you seen the advertisements that say you can order dental plates by mail? Does this make any sense?

Mr. H. W., S.D.

Dear Mr. W.:

Yes, I have, and it is almost impossible for me to believe that some people fall into their trap.

One of the great accomplishments of modern dentistry is to make exact molds of the mouth, the gums, the cheeks, the soft tissue of the floor of the mouth and the roof of the palate.

Only in this way is it possible to insure that dentures will fit securely and not rub against and injure the sensitive tissues of the mouth.

After dentures are made, the dentist follows the patient to be sure that chewing and grinding of food are satisfactory, and to see that there are no pressure areas that can become troublesome.

Mail-order dentistry is particularly hazardous for another reason. Growths and other diseases of the mouth, normally diagnosed by the dentist, would, of course, be overlooked.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Debt rather than equity has become the dominant method of financing the country today, and the consequences are showing themselves throughout society.

Stock prices, for example, are at their lowest in years, partly because the higher interest rates offered for borrowed money is too attractive for investors to turn down. They sell their stocks and buy bonds.

Increasingly, capital-short corporations are forced to turn to banks, and their irritation is showing. When a company raises money in the stock market it comes relatively free of strings. Stockholders in general are docile. Banks are not; they dictate terms.

Many corporations now are seriously concerned that their future is endangered by their inability to attract people to the ownership concept — to buying the company's stock rather than lending it money via bonds.

Not only do they find it difficult to attract customers, but with stock sales forces a fraction of what they were a decade ago, corporate leaders find it difficult to turn around the situation.

The decay of the equity markets seems to feed on itself. If people distrust stocks today, then they must be resold. But with business so poor, most big brokers have little interest in handling any but the active accounts.

The head of Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., forecast last week that "between 100 and 200 firms will merge or go out of business if:

"... short-term interest rates don't decline substantially, if the stock market doesn't improve markedly in price and volume, and if negotiated commissions become effective on May 1, 1975."

The scramble to borrow money is glaringly apparent with small savings accounts.

Ordinarily any interest in Treasury financing comes mainly from the big individual and institutional investors. But this week's refinancing is partially denominated in units of $1,000 and at an unheard of 9 per cent.

This means savings and loan associations and savings banks, which cannot pay more than 7.9 per cent a year compounded, simply cannot compete. And that means they cannot provide home mortgages.

The impact of all this is felt in an even more personal way. Billions of dollars are held in private pension plans to fund the retirement of millions of workers. These plans rely on a healthy stock market to remain viable.

Now that the stock market has fallen into such disarray, some pension plans must reevaluate their estimates of growth. The Dow Jones Industrial Average is back where it was 10 years ago, and many of these plans hold the very stocks that make up the Dow Jones average.

In the opinion of those close to the scene, the complex problem of debt versus equity markets won't be resolved until inflationary pressures recede. Then, they say, interest rates will begin to fall, and stocks will regain some appeal.

Communion Cancelled In Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — An order banning a newly ordained woman priest from celebrating the eucharist at an Episcopal church here was protested Sunday by cancellation of the church's rite of Holy Communion. Instead, the rector of St. Stephen and the Incarnation Church substituted a brief prayer service. The congregation applauded the decision.

"For the first time in 14 years at this church the Eucharist will not be celebrated at the 10 a.m. service," said the Rev. William A. Wendt, the rector.

Mrs. Alison Cheek, one of 11 women ordained in a disputed ceremony last Monday in Philadelphia, had been forbidden from celebrating the eucharist at the church by Episcopal Bishop William F. Creighton, the presiding bishop of Washington.

Water Treading Record Is Safe

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Portly Peter Bahn, the 375-pound unofficial world champion water treader from DeSoto, Ill., can relax. His record remains intact.

Two lithe and athletic Philadelphians became ill trying to break it this weekend.

A month ago Bahn tread water for 26 hours and three minutes. When he finished, he climbed ashore and popped a cool can of beer.

But the best that Ken Garvin, a 20-year-old college student, could do was 19 hours—from 9 a.m. Saturday to four Sunday morning.

"It was my breathing that did it," said Raymond Cressee, 19, who entered the water with Garvin but lasted only 13½ hours.

5 GOP Panel Members Change Minds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., who vociferously defended President Nixon during the House Judiciary Committee inquiry, said today he has called on Nixon to resign and that he will vote for impeachment if the President does not do so.

Among the 10 Republican members of the committee who had opposed all proposed articles of impeachment, Sandman was the fifth to change his mind because of Nixon's disclosure that he withheld evidence from the committee. Four others said they were reassessing their position and the 10th could not be reached for comment.

One of those reassessing his position, Rep. Delbert L. Latta of Ohio, said in an interview this morning: "I've always felt that in order to impeach a president you had to have direct evidence and here the President was furnishing the direct evidence himself."

Latta, asked if his vote had switched,

Three-Hour Battle Rages Between Cypriot Factions

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Despite the Cyprus cease-fire, a three-hour battle flared up Monday night between Greek and Turkish Cypriots in the eastern port of Famagusta.

A spokesman for the United Nations peacekeeping force said Greek Cypriot troops apparently ambushed Turkish Cypriots who had left Famagusta's medieval fort, where they had been under siege for several days. The Greek Cypriots have said the besieged Turkish Cypriots have been foraging in port warehouses outside the walls.

Other Turks came to the ambushed refugees' aid with covering gunfire, the spokesman said.

Casualty figures were not available.

About 11,000 Turkish Cypriots took refuge in the fort when fighting on the Mediterranean island spread to Famagusta in mid-July, and since then they have been surrounded by hostile Greek Cypriots.

Shortly before the Famagusta shooting Monday night, U.N. spokesman Rudolf Stajduhar had announced that for the first time since Greece, Turkey and Britain signed the Geneva cease-fire on July 30, no shooting had been reported anywhere on

Law Outlines Tenant Rights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan Monday signed into law what he called a "landmark piece of legislation" defining the legal rights of both landlords and tenants.

The law is effective Nov. 4. It would allow tenants to withhold rent from landlords who refuse to make repairs. A court could hold the money pending settlement of the dispute.

An opponent, Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, who is in the real estate business, predicted it could drive private enterprise out of the rental industry.

"Nothing but trouble lies ahead for the apartment owner and the housing industry," he said in a letter to constituents.

"One immediate question brought to mind," Slagle said, "is how can an apartment owner pay the mortgage and other expenses if all rent money is held by the court?"

The bill, as passed, had the backing of both the real estate industry and the administration. Gillman signed it at the Columbus office of Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, the bill's chief backer.

Under the law, the court could direct payment of withheld money to fix an apartment or house, or reduce the monthly rent payment until it is repaired.

The law would prohibit the retaliatory eviction of a tenant who files a complaint. It charges both the landlord and tenant to make the dwelling unit sanitary and safe — the landlord to see that it is that way at the beginning and the tenant to see that it stays that way.

Showers Hit South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thundershowers pelted some Southern states today and brought scattered relief to parched sections of southern Texas and northwest Missouri.

The storms created flooding north of San Antonio, but most showers continued only briefly. The heaviest activity, however, occurred in the Atlantic Coast states, where nearly an inch of rain fell at Charleston, S.C., and one-half inch drenched Macon, Ga. Some rainstorms hit northern California, but fog and low clouds mainly hovered over the Pacific Coast. Fair skies and cool temperatures prevailed from the lower Mississippi Valley to the Northeast with temperatures mostly in the 50s throughout the Ohio Valley and Great Lakes.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 46 at Bradford, Pa., to 94 at Yuma, Ariz., and Thermal, Calif.

Cyprus. Earlier in the day, a joint military commission continued efforts to establish boundaries between Turkish and Greek Cypriot troops. A spokesman said the British, Greek and Turkish representatives and a U.N. observer "had reached provisional agreement on a substantial part of the eastern area" of the boundary.

Even before the Monday night skirmish, Greek and Turkish diplomats had traded charges of cease-fire violations, and it has been uncertain all along whether either side would attend the second round of Geneva talks scheduled to start Thursday.

Rail Freight Moves Again In Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana had freight service along Penn Central's main line from Chicago to Louisville, Ky., today but still no answer to the rail crisis that forced the track closing last week.

The last few miles of closed track between Chicago and Louisville, a six-mile section between Clymers and Logansport in northern Indiana, was reopened late Monday.

Trains, however, were restricted to 10 miles an hour in most places after emergency repairs were made to the line. One state official described the tracks as "just a hair above what they were before."

Passenger trains still were banned from the north-south line. Amtrak's Floridian and James Whitcomb Riley trains were detoured on other tracks, bypassing Indianapolis and making no stops in Indiana. Hoosier passengers were being bused to the nearest point, either Chicago or Cincinnati.

The Federal Railroad Administration ordered more than two-thirds of the Penn Central main line closed last Friday for safety reasons. Inspectors found 1,329 safety defects in just 67 miles of the entire 315-mile route, a major freight artery for Indiana.

The repairs, approved by the FRA, were completed a full 11 days ahead of Penn Central's timetable announced last Friday, prompting Gov. Otis R. Bowen to declare the rails could have been upgraded before the closing order.

"I was annoyed that the repair could be made so rapidly," Bowen said. "It makes me a little bit bitter that they hadn't done it sooner.

said: "Well, we haven't cast that vote, but certainly you can't defend that one particular charge...."

Latta appeared on the CBS Morning News.

Sandman told a news conference that the transcript of a June 23, 1972 conversation released by Nixon Monday "is the type of hard proof I believe is necessary. I can see no escape from this information."

Sandman said there is no question in his mind but that the transcript establishes an impeachable offense

Ex-FBI Man Sues Former Colleagues

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— William F. Higgins Jr., a former FBI agent here, seeks $500,000 damages from four of his former co-workers in a suit filed in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

Named in the suit are John W. Burns of Albany, N. Y.; Dwight M. Wells, assistant special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office; Marshall Perkins, a Cleveland-based agent, and John B. Richardson III, who has since left the FBI. Burns was formerly in charge of the Cleveland office.

Higgins charges in his suit that the four defendants beat him in July 1972 and also damaged his automobile while he was at Richardson's home in suburban Bay Village. Richardson now lives in Florida.

Higgins was dismissed from the FBI in Newark, N. J., last October but claimed he was fired as the result of his pressing for an investigation in Cleveland where he was assigned prior to his transfer to Newark. He is now selling real estate in Hillsdale, N. J.

He had been investigating the financial empire of Lloyd W. Sahley and, according to memos in his file, turned up the names of Robert E. Hughes, County Republican co-chairman, and Minor H. George, the party's vice chairman.

Higgins says he was investigating George's relation to Sahley through their joint connection with Manger Cleveland Corp., and Hughes' possible role in securing a loan for Sahley's now bankrupt Midwestern Securities Corp. Higgins claims he was fired because his investigation was getting him close to important county political figures and had possible Watergate implications.

The charges against Hughes and George were never proved.

Widow Allowed To Run Station

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Janet Markusic has won her battle to keep running a gasoline service station operated by her husband until his death two months ago.

Mrs. Markusic said Monday that she had been advised by U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, that the Union Oil Co. had agreed to give her a "chance to operate the station if I want, and I want."

The mother of five children threatened last week to take the company to court after the firm told her the station's lease ended the day her husband died.

under the first article of impeachment voted by the committee — the one charging obstruction of justice in the cover-up of the Watergate break-in.

Asked whether he thinks the Senate would convict Nixon if the House votes impeachment, Sandman replied, "I can't see how they could do otherwise."

Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., who carried the main burden of Nixon's defense in the Judiciary Committee, said Monday: "After considerable reflection, I have reached the painful conclusion that the President of the United States should resign." Wiggins added that he would vote for impeachment if Nixon remained in office.

Also changing their minds Monday on impeachment were Republican Judiciary Committee members David W. Dennis of Indiana, Wiley Mayne of Iowa and Joseph J. Maraziti of New Jersey.

Those on the committee reassessing their positions, in addition to Latta, were Carlos J. Moorhead of California, Henry P. Smith III of New York and the committee's ranking Republican, Edward Hutchinson of Michigan.

Rep. Trent Lott, R-Miss., could not be reached for comment.

Meanwhile, committee members who voted for impeachment said Nixon's action confirms their view. One of them, Rep. M. Caldwell Butler, R-Va., said Nixon's statement "makes me a little more comfortable with my vote."

Elsewhere in Congress, many members said the President's statement increased the odds for Nixon's impeachment and removal from office.

Ford To Suspend Defense Of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says he is suspending his public defense of President Nixon against impeachment in light of Nixon's statement that new evidence "may be damaging."

Ford said Monday he had not seen the new evidence and would stand on his views that the President is innocent of any impeachable offense "until I have reason to change them.

"I have come to the conclusion that the public interest is no longer served by repetition of my previously expressed belief," Ford declared in a prepared statement.

He said "the whole truth should be the objective of the (impeachment) trial before the Senate."

The vice president issued the statement two hours after President Nixon released transcripts showing he authorized, six days after the Watergate break-in, an effort to keep the FBI from investigating evidence that Nixon re-election money was involved.

Ford said that since Nixon says the evidence may be damaging he, Ford, will make no further public statements on impeachment "until the facts are more fully available."

Ford also said that as the man who would succeed Nixon if the President were impeached and removed from office he properly has no constitutional role in the Senate impeachment debate and so should not daily involve himself in it.

As the first vice president in his position — Andrew Johnson had no vice president, Ford said, "there are no precedents to guide me except my own common sense and my conscience.

"Both tell me to let my widely known views on the impeachment issue stand until I have reason to change them and to refuse further comment at this time," he said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

She Should Just Say; "NO!"

DEAR ABBY: I've been struggling with this problem for a year and can't seem to come up with a solution.

I am 27, reasonably attractive and divorced. When a girl is 21 and not yet married, she can say no to a fellow and use the excuse that she is saving herself for marriage. But when she's 27 and divorced, what can she say that will be acceptable?

If I say, "I don't believe in sex outside marriage," it sounds like I'm trying to rope myself another husband, which is not necessarily true.

How can I get around this? What I need is some clever saying that will get me off the hook without making me sound like a goody-goody.

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: What makes you think you have to either deliver, or come up with an excuse? Surely you have something other than sex to offer a man. Just say: "No," and don't feel that you have to justify it.

DEAR ABBY: The days when girls went to college to catch a husband are a thing of the past. If girl's don't get an education so they can support themselves they will end up on welfare.

The no-fault divorces are telling the story loud and clear. Women are not going to be able to hook a man and live off him for the rest of their lives.

A relative of mine is now looking for work at the age of 67. For 15 years her ex-husband sent her $800 a month, and she spent every dime of it. Last month she was told there will be no more checks and now she is half out of her mind. She's never done any kind of work in her life. She's hopelessly helpless.

She wants to come live with me. I told her no. At age 45, I went back to school for two years to prepare myself for the job I have now. I like being independent, and I don't want to give up my privacy, which is what I would have to do if I let her come live with me. Do you blame me?

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: I'd have to know more about the relationship between you and this relative. If she is someone who looked after you when you were helpless, it would make a difference.

DEAR ABBY: The girl I'm dating has been invited to her cousin's wedding. She received a formal in-itation, and enclosed was a note which read: "I am sorry but I must ask you please not to bring a guest as it will be too much. Thank you," and it was signed by the bride's mother.

My question: Isn't it customary for a girl who is dating someone special to be allowed to bring him? I had quite a long discussion with my girl friend. I told her that under the circumstances I didn't think she should attend the wedding either as I do not approve of her going without me as her escort. I would like your opinion.

OBJECT

DEAR OBJECT: Objection overruled! You aren't officially engaged to her and should not be expected to be included. You appear to be unduly possessive of a girl you are only "dating". And you are out of order to insist that she not attend her cousin's wedding because you were not made welcome. Case dismissed.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M AND K: When an argument develops into a physical fight, the one who lands the first blow has lost the argument.

No Progress In Lordstown Strike Talks

LORDSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— No progress was reported following another eight hours of negotiations Monday in an attempt to end a strike at General Motors Corp.'s Lordstown complex.

The talks were to be resumed at 9 a.m. today.

Marlin Ford, president of the striking United Auto Workers Local 1112, said before the talks started Monday that he was not optimistic about an early settlement because of a deadlock in the negotiations. He said no progress in breaking the deadlock was made during the day.

A GM spokesman said the talks were stalled over contract language and that the remaining grievances could be settled quickly.

Local 1112 struck the GM Assembly Division July 12, halting the production of Chevrolet Vegas and van trucks.

Nuclear War Exhibit Set In Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)— As the world marked the destruction of Hiroshima by atomic bomb 29 years ago today, the wife of a former Atomic Energy Commission expert put finishing touches on the largest memorial collection outside of Japan dedicated to making the world aware of the holocaust of nuclear war.

Barbara Reynolds said the exhibition will go on permanent display at Quaker-sponsored Wilmington College here next month.

Mrs. Reynolds and her husband, Earle, became activists in efforts to halt American and Soviet nuclear testing after he left the AEC. They were once arrested when they sailed into an American Pacific test site.

Mrs. Reynolds has been working on the Wilmington exhibition with the help of two associates. She said the exhibit is designed to say "this must be the end of war."

The collection includes audiovisual presentations, books, pamphlets, leaflets, letters, diaries and other material.

Mrs. Reynolds said she saw the need to remind the world of the horror and devastation of the nuclear war while her husband was assigned in Japan in 1951 to study the effects of radiation on the growth of Hiroshima children.

"If we could have been given a complete picture of what the bomb meant back in 1945, perhaps we wouldn't have this problem today," she said.

Mrs. Reynolds said the mayors of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, both destroyed by nuclear weapons during World War II, have agreed to serve on the exhibition's board of directors.

Jaycees Attend All State

Five members of the Circleville Jaycees attended the Lima All State held Aug. 24 at the Ohio State University Branch Campus in Lima. Attending were Jim Roese, Mike Gilmore, Lou McFarland, Jake Bailey and Dan Hall.

The All State was conducted to give the local presidents and their members a capsule training session that will enable them to promote the priority areas of the Ohio Jaycees and their local chapters to accomplish meaningful results.

Seminars were also held that will give the local chapter officers and members insight into leadership of their chapter.

The Ohio Jaycees are comprised of over 18,000 young men between the ages of 18 and 35 that make up 298 local chapters. The main purpose of the Ohio Jaycees is leadership training of young men through community involvement.

While in Lima at the seminar, Dan Hall participated in Speak-Up and finished eighth in the state in the competition.

Panel Recommends Lake Shore Zoning

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Lakes Superior, Erie and Ontario can be regulated beneficially as a group, but the best step toward reducing property damage by lake waters would be better zoning, a U.S.-Canadian panel says.

The International Joint Commission on the Great Lakes says it will announce specific dates next month for a series of public hearings in late October through November. The hearings on lake water control proposals are to be in Cleveland, Duluth, Milwaukee, Muskegon, Detroit and Rochester in the United States and in Montreal and at Ontario's Thunder Bay, Owen Sound, Sault Ste. Marie, and Hamilton in Canada.

In a report described as designed to help laymen understand the complex Great Lakes problem, the commission says the lakes' natural balance is delicate. "To disturb it is to affect lakeshore properties, water supply intakes, navigation, power production and the environment," the report adds.

The commission says only a pair of plans offer some benefit at reasonable cost. These envision regulation of Lakes Superior and Ontario together or regulation of Lakes Superior, Erie and Ontario as a group.

The United States would derive two to four times greater benefit from them than would Canada, the commission adds.

The report cites overall findings that:

—To the extent that the lakes already possess a high degree of natural regulation and are artificially regulated by means of the works at the outlets of Lake Superior and Lake Ontario, only small improvements are practicable without costly regulatory works and remedial measures.

—The most promising measures for minimizing future damages to shore property interests are strict land use zoning and structural setback requirements.

—Regulation of Lakes Michigan-Huron by construction of control works and dredging of channels at their outlet, combined with the regulation of Lakes Superior and Ontario, would not provide benefits commensurate with costs.

—Regulation of all five lakes, employing existing control works for Lakes Superior and Ontario and newly constructed works for Lakes Michigan-Huron and Lake Erie, would not provide benefits commensurate with costs. One of the plans the commission found potentially beneficial envisions permanently lowering the mean level of Lake Erie by enlarging the channel of the upper Niagara River. It also would make "slight modification to the St. Marys control works," the commission says.

Piranhas Are Mt. Pleasant Champs

"Circleville swimmers," said Coach Jim Shea, "were simply fantastic over the past weekend when they participated in the annual Mt. Pleasant Championship Meet held in Groveport."

The annual event, although it is tagged a "Championship Meet," is not scored for team points, it is for individual swimmers with awards given for the first six places in each of the 66 events.

"We took 79 swimmers to the meet," Shea said "and came home with 115 awards, leaving only 281 awards to be divided among the remaining six teams in the league."

"I could hardly believe my eyes", the Piranha coach said, when I saw what a fine job of swimming our Circleville boys and girls did. Their starts, or at least 95 per cent of them, were excellent; their turns were sharp; and their times were excellent."

"In addition to winning the 115 individual awards", the coach continued, "we picked up four more trophies during the day."

Outstanding Swimmer trophies were awarded to Jeff Davies in the boys age 13-14 class; Ann Titus in the girls age 15-17 class; and to Steve Penn in the boys 15-17 class. Also, the team received the "Championship Trophy" for winning the league title with a 7-0 season record.

Yeager's Homer Sinks Reds

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
The Los Angeles Dodgers are alive and well in the National League West. The Cincinnati Reds are just alive. Opening an important three-game series Monday night, the Dodgers won 6-3 and gave the Reds' pennant dreams a kick in the percentages.

"They're the best club in baseball, there's no doubt about it," said a dismayed Sparky Anderson, the Cincinnati manager, as his Red. dropped 7½ games off the Dodgers' frontrunning pace.

The Dodgers beat the Reds with Steve Yeager's grand slam home run in the seventh.

"I was looking for a pitch I could handle," noted Yeager, normally not known for his home run hitting. "I got it, a fastball that was down."

In the other National League games, the New York Mets beat the Montreal Expos 10-4; the St. Louis Cardinals stopped the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 in 13 innings; the Houston Astros trimmed the San Francisco Giants 7-2 and the Atlanta Braves beat the San Diego Padres 9-7.

Cincinnati starter Don Gullett, 13-8, surrendered all the Dodger runs on homers in the nationally televised game. Jimmy Wynn earlier hit a two-run homer for the Dodgers, the first off Gullett in his last eight starts.

Down 2-0, Cincinnati tied the Dodgers in the top of the seventh on George Foster's fifth homer of the baseball season. He hit it after Tony Perez singled.

Mets 10, Expos 4

Pitcher Tug McGraw's three-run double broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning and New York scored three more runs in the ninth to bury Montreal. McGraw, 2-5, who replaced starter Tom Seaver in the seventh inning, delivered the game-winning hit after the Mets loaded the bases. Ed Kranepool walked with one out and Wayne Garrett singled to center.

Cardinals 3, Phillies 2

Joe Torre's bases-loaded single in the 13th inning lifted St. Louis over Philadelphia. The victory boosted the first-place Cardinals' lead in the National League East to two games over Philadelphia.

Ted Sizemore doubled off Pete Richert, 1-1, to lead off the 13th. After Bake McBride was intentionally walked, Phils catcher Bob Boone threw wildly into center field on an attempted pickoff, the runners advancing to second and third.

Astros 7, Giants 2

Milt May drove in three runs, two of them with a single that capped a four-run seventh inning, to help Houston beat San Francisco. A double by winner Don Wilson, 8-8, and Roger Metzger's single gave Houston a third-inning run off loser Charlie Williams, 1-3, before Houston wrapped up the game in the seventh.

Braves 9, Padres 7

Atlanta struck for two runs in the ninth inning, the tie-breaker on Hank Aaron's single, to beat San Diego. Ralph Garr and Mike Lum singled and Darrell Evans walked to load the bases before Aaron delivered Atlanta's go-ahead run with an infield single.

Reds Call Kennedy

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds replaced injured utility player Andy Kosco Monday by promoting hard-hitting infielder Junior Kennedy.

The former No. 1 draft choice of the Baltimore Orioles was hitting .281 in 83 games this year at Class AAA Indianapolis of the American Association.

Kennedy recently became the first Indianapolis player in 38 years to go 6-for-6 in a game. A member of the league All-Star team, he had 10 assists as a shortstop in the All-Star to set a 40-year-old record.

Kosco is sidelined on the 21-day disabled list with a ruptured disc in his back.

Grich Leads Orioles To Sweep

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver has a nomination for most valuable player in the American League — his own second baseman, Bobby Grich. While Reggie Jackson, the slugging outfielder of the Oakland A's, must be considered a favorite to retain his MVP title, Grich didn't lose any votes with his performance in Monday's twingnight doubleheader against the Detroit Tigers.

He belted a three-run homer, a run-scoring single and scored three times to lead Baltimore to a 7-4 victory in the opener, then added another hit and a walk in the Orioles' 6-3 triumph in the nightcap.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York blanked Boston 8-0; Oakland split a pair with Minnesota, winning 2-1 then losing 4-3, and Texas outscored Chicago 13-8.

Grich's homer was the 17th of the year for the right-handed hitter, who is now batting .286 with 64 runs batted in and 71 runs scored.

Grich and Paul Blair combined to score 10 runs for the Orioles in the doubleheader, with Blair scoring three times in each game. And it was Blair's two-run homer in the sixth inning which broke a 3-3 tie and put Baltimore ahead for good.

Blair's homer, his 12th of the season, followed a two-out single by Mark Belanger. The Orioles got their final run in the ninth on an RBI single by Don Baylor.

Yankees 8, Red Sox 0

Rudy May, making his first start since coming off the disabled list last week, blanked Boston on two hits, singles by Rico Petrocelli in the fourth inning and Tommy Harper in the ninth. Thurman Munson and Roy White homered for New York.

It was only the Yankees' fourth victory in 13 games against the Red Sox this year, and their first ever over Boston starter Bill Lee, who was 4-0 this season against New York and 8-0 lifetime.

A's 2-3, Twins 1-4

Reggie Jackson's eighth-inning homer, his 20th of the season, lifted the A's to victory in the opener, while Rod Carew's run-scoring single capped a three-run fourth inning that helped Minnesota win the nightcap.

Jackson's two-out blast into the right-field bleachers in the opener made a loser of Bert Blyleven, 10-13, who allowed only five Oakland hits. Ken Holtzman, 12-12, got the victory, with ninth-inning relief help from Rolie Fingers.

Jerry Terrell's bunt drove home the first run of the Twins' rally in the fourth inning of the nightcap and Eric Soderholm delivered another with a sacrifice fly before Carew drove home Terrell with his base hit.

Rangers 13, White Sox 8

Cesar Tovar started and finished a six-run first inning in the Rangers' triumph over Chicago.

After Tovar walked to start the game, Jeff Burroughs also walked. Then came singles by Mike Hargrove, Jim Spencer and Toby Harrah, a hit batsman, and another walk, and finally a two-run single ... by Tovar.

Fire Hosts Blazers In WFL Game

By HOWARD SINER
AP Sports Writer
If you can't stand the heat, keep out of Soldier Field.

Still, the unbeaten Chicago Fire might face trouble scaring off its next World Football League visitor — the Florida Blazers.

The Fire, 4-0, takes the WFL's hottest scoring attack — an average of 31 points per game — into the contest Wednesday night against the Blazers, 3-1, who boast a torrid scoring defense — just 7.8 points a game.

In other WFL action Wednesday night, it's Detroit at Birmingham; Memphis at Philadelphia; New York at Southern California; and Houston at Portland. The national TV game Thursday is Hawaii at Jacksonville.

Chicago running back Mike Kellar, a rookie from Northern Illinois, leads the league in scoring with the help of eight touchdowns — five of them Sunday against Hawaii to earn WFL Player of the Week honors.

The Blazers will counter with a defense crew of Billy Hobbs, Larry Grantham, Miller Farr, Rickie Harris and others in an effort to recover from their 7-6 setback last week against Houston in the Astrodome.

Birmingham, 4-0, tied with Chicago atop the WFL Central Division, might have to get by again without ailing quarterback George Mira.

Right Turn Wins Feature At Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Right Turn stormed into the lead in the stretch to capture the featured race at Scioto Downs Monday night in 2:06 4-5.

The winner paid $6.60, $4.40 and $3.80. Lotta B S returned $4.60 and $3.80 for second and Clayette, $8.40 for show.

The 3-1 daily double combination of My Barnes Chief and Jetline A was worth $25.60.

The quinella payoffs were 1-4 for $51 in the fourth race, 6-9 for $58.80 in the seventh and 4-7 for $39.60 in the ninth. A crowd of 4,024 wagered $227,462.

We're going across the ocean to get you more clean-burning gas.

In just a few years, huge ships with specially designed, super-cold compartments will be bringing additional natural gas supplies—in liquid form—from across the ocean. Natural gas can be liquefied by reducing its temperature to minus 260°F., making it possible to reduce 625 cubic feet of gas to 1 cubic foot of liquid. That means LNG can be shipped in cryogenic tankers from places we can't reach with our pipelines.

Each ship, carrying enough gas to supply more than 14,000 homes for a full year, will deliver LNG to a special receiving terminal that Columbia Gas is helping to build on Chesapeake Bay. There, the LNG will be revaporized for delivery to Columbia's pipelines.

Although its cost will be higher, LNG will give Columbia's customers more clean energy. And with scarcity and mounting expense affecting all types of energy, your gas bill will still represent one of your most economical purchases.

COLUMBIA GAS is doing something about the energy crisis.

In Memoriam

In memory of my wonderful son Kenneth E. Hardman who passed away one year ago today Aug. 6.

Son, as I sit here alone, I think of the time that you would come home and say oh it's been a wonderful day. It will soon be melting time, we must hurry along and off with your bible under your arm to pray to the dear Lord for the rain and the sun, thanking dear Jesus for all he has done. Hoping and praying that others might find that wonderful saviour of yours and mine, now it's been a year since you've been gone. I seem to think you will be coming home, then I see you with Jesus around the white throne, just waiting and watching for your friends and family to come on to that wonderful home in a far away land. One not made by earthly man.

So sadly missed by mother Dorothy,
brothers and sister.

FOR WEDNESDAY ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Trends mixed. Bring order out of uncertainty through clear, concise analysis and like action. Emphasize system and optimism.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A better day than you may anticipate. Especially favored: personal relationships, creative pursuits, travel plans.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Don't yield to lethargy. The active Geminian rarely does, but such tendencies prevail now, and you will have to fight them off if you are to accomplish at your usual best.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Enterprises that require considerable study and know-how should succeed. You can play a rewardingly active part in reaching understandings and planning future business moves.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): This day will need team players as well as individualists. Try to curb your usual desire to go it alone — and cooperate.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Even if you don't get all the cooperation you had hoped for, don't worry. Try working things out another way. You CAN!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Note the fine points in complicated matters, issues of importance. Make statements, decisions with particular care. Past procedures may have to be changed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): An active day indicated. Put all you have into endeavors: your best thoughts, plans, efforts. Look for the unexpected, and appreciate all — even the challenges.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A hunch could pay off — especially where career matters are concerned. But be sure you are seeing persons and situations in a realistic light.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Trend is toward the unusual. Rightly handled, this can be a profitable, challenging. Don't neglect everyday matters, however.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You may run into snags and obstacles but you can handle them well. Pep up your ideas, keep your vision broad. Think over past experiences and profit by them. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't be swayed by outside distractions, the bizarre doings of others. You could be fooled if not alert. Mixed influences — some disconcerting.

YOU BORN TODAY are innately enthusiastic, outgoing, always looking for the best that life has to offer. The Leo-born are extremely ambitious, full of lively incentive and extraordinarily progressive in their thinking and methods. You are a perfectionist, too, and your work is always highly individualized but, in the pursuit of this individuality, you are likely to acquire an overpowering arrogance, refusing to take orders from anyone and brooking no criticism or interference. Try to be more flexible, more adaptable to the personalities with whom you deal. Your versatility is such that the fields in which you could excel are almost limitless, but you would probably attain your greatest success on the stage, in writing, the law, statesmanship, painting or music. Passes Lichen Test

LONDON (AP)—Jack Laundon, secretary of the British Lichen Society, recently moved, but not before checking the lichen on tombstones in a cemetery near his prospective new residence.

Excessive sulphur dioxide in the air quickly kills lichen and Laundon said the growth's condition is an effective measure of local pollution.

Running Problem

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (AP)—Mobile homes are involved in more complaints for their number than houses or cars, says Mike Hanson, director of trade practices with British Columbia Consumer Services. He told the Western Mobile Home Dealers' Association that most of the complaints involve construction of homes not set properly on their footings.

NEW YORK (AP) — Hordes of tourists annually visit Washington, D.C., but few ever get to query top newsmakers there. Now, they've a great chance, if only they can find a seat at the city's "National Town Meeting."

It's a weekly program, broadcast live by the National Public Radio system each Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. EDT. It takes place at the Eisenhower Theater in the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

The show began slightly more than 1½ months ago. It features two national newsmakers at each show; they're briefly grilled by two journalists, then further questioning is turned over to members of the studio audience.

"National Town Meeting" was dreamed up last spring by Fred Dutton, a lawyer, a wheel in national Democratic party circles, a former aide to the late President John F. Kennedy and a top adviser to Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., during McGovern's 1972 presidential bid.

"It struck me that tourists can come to town and see monuments and museums, maybe the House or Senate if they're in session," said Dutton. "So why not some of the top newsmakers they hear about?"

The program is moderated by John Charles Daly, 60, a veteran newsmen who is better recognized as the former host of "What's My

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

It has been announced this week by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety that instead of license plates, Ohio motorists will purchase only validation stickers next spring.

The agency said they had invited 52 steel companies to bid on the required 4,500 tons of galvanized steel for 1975 license plates. But the companies expressed no interest because they prefer to produce higher profit types of steel.

By not purchasing the steel and manufacturing the plates, the state will save $4 million. Under existing law, the savings will be returned to local and county governments for road construction and maintenance.

Under legislation approved by the General Assembly last year, the state will go to a multi-year license plate system in 1976. The system is currently being used in 36 other states.

Ohio is the first state in the nation to take advantage of federal funds for a program to bring low-income rural youths to state parks and other points of interest outside their immediate environment.

The Department of Natural Resources is launching a recreation support program, which will allow rural youths from 63 counties to visit state parks, historical points of interest, colleges and universities and the Ohio State Fair.

Natural Resources Director William B. Nye said "the program is a logical extension of DNR's award-winning 'People to the Parks' program."

That program provides one and two-day outings to state parks for inner city youths, low-income senior citizens and physically and mentally handicapped persons.

The Recreation Support Program will provide one-day outings for low-income youths, eight to 21 years old, who live outside the state's major metropolitan areas.

The outings, scheduled between July 30 and August 30, will include trips to Mohican, Salt Fork, Hueston Woods, Shawnee and Kelleys Island state parks.

All the youths will travel to Columbus by bus to attend the Ohio State Fair and tour the state capitol and Ohio State University.

Other educational facilities, such as Rio Grande College in Gallia County, and other points of interest, such as the Ohio Historical Society Museum in Columbus, will be included on some of the tours.

This year's program is made possible by a grant of $100,291 from the U.S. Department of Labor through the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Ohio's preparedness plans for the eventuality of a serious energy crisis were advanced last week by action of both the Governor and officers of the General Assembly. Acting to implement statutory provisions to create a five-member Ohio Emergency Energy Commission, Governor Gilligan appointed three members to this commission to represent government, business, and the public. The final two members, one each from the Senate and the House, were subsequently appointed by House Speaker A. G. Lancione and Senate President Pro Tem Ted Gray.

The Ohio Emergency Energy Commission (OEEC) will act as the state's primary planning agency to deal with energy matters for the next 17 months, until December 31, 1975. During this 17-month period the OEEC will collect energy-related information and draft energy contingency plans for submission to the General Assembly for legislative approval.

This commission may also declare an energy emergency, but only under two circumstances: 1) that the President or Congress has first declared a nationwide energy crisis or one that applies to only certain areas of the country, of which area Ohio is included; or, 2) that the "health, welfare, and safety" of Ohioans is jeopardized by a crisis and independent action by the OEEC is necessary.

Great Lakes Shipping Discussed In Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Some 1,200 members of the Maritime Engineers Beneficial Association-Associated Maritime Officers are voting on a new working agreement reached in negotiations with major steel companies operating Great Lakes bulk carriers.

A union spokesman said Monday the agreement had been reached with U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Co., but declined to disclose details.

The agreement appeared to have averted a threatened strike by mates, engineers and stewards who work aboard 130 vessels. Talks began July 17 and the marine officers have remained on their jobs on a day-to-day basis.

The Army is offering young men and women an opportunity to break into the aviation industry as radioteletype operators, reports local Army representative SFC Carl L. Harmon.

Radioteletype operators transmit highly important weather and flight information from ground to flight crews. Radio operators use a radio-telephone to send and receive messages. Teletypists operate teletype machines to transmit written messages between ground personnel.

Competition in the field is keen, SFC Harmon pointed out. The experience and quality of training a young person has received will have a direct bearing on his success in finding employment.

The Army offers some of the finest instruction available for radio-teletype operators, he noted.

During the 11 weeks of intensive training at the U.S. Army Signal School at Fort Gordon, Ga., radioteletype operators learn how to install, operate and maintain field radioteletypewriter sets and related equipment.

Army operators erect antennas, install power generators and make connections between equipment components.

They also receive and process incoming teletype and tape relay messages.

Some operators serve as principal non-commissioned officers of a company engaged in radio operations, he said. "This management experience can be of tremendous value for those seeking supervisory positions in the civilian job markets."

High school graduates interested in becoming radioteletype operators in the Army are also eligible for a $1,500 cash bonus upon successful completion of their training.

Further information is available from SFC Harmon at 116 E. Main St.
